To whom this may concern,

A little about me, I'm Ian Wijma from The Netherlands, Living in Canberra, ACT. Where I moved to last year in August to live with my Partner. I see myself as a hard working team player who loves new and exciting challenges, with work or in life. My hobbies are programming, Craft Beer, Travelling, Gaming and FOSS.

I have great experience in (product) development, which I have done that for the last 5 years professionally and 7 years personally. Where I work on learning new theories and projects, where I learn and experiment with new technologies and techniques, from programming languages to software architecture to security.

For further outlines about my skills and experiences, I'd like to redirect you to my attached resume or website, which is available in the header of this document. I welcome any chance to talk with you about any opportunity.

Thanks for your time.

With kind regards,

Ian Wijma.
